JOMRAH covers all areas of the fields of medicine including, but not limited to internal medicine, cardiology, neurology, infectious disease, rheumatology, anesthesiology, surgery, psychology, neurolinguistics, and psycholinguistics.

All authors are invited to read the "Guide for Authors" section in our website before submitting their papers. The primary determining factor regarding publication of manuscripts is their quality which is judged by the members of the editorial board.

The purpose of JOMRAH is to serve the professional community by publishing high quality research papers that are currently being conducted related to medicine.

All papers are freely available and the full text of the papers can be downloaded directly from our website. We publish all types of papers including review articles, original articles, editorials, case reports, brief communications, and letters to the editor.

JOMRAH follows the instructions and guidelines provided by ICMJE, COPE, WMA, and EMWA.
